Faubus Must Make 115 Appointments

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus must make 115 state board and commission appointments this year. Included is the appointment of a director to the important Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

Winthrop Rockefeller holds that position and is expected to be reappointed, but Faubus has made no commitment. Sources close to the governor say others want the AIDC job.

Faubus also must appoint an assistant Arkansas resident to the State Police Commission. Six state colleges and the University of Arkansas have board members whose terms expire this year. The terms of most Racing Commission members expired in 1959. They may serve until replaced by the governor.

The Game and Fish Commission term of Dr. J. H. Burge of Lake Village expires June 7. The Forestry Commission term of Fred Dierks of Hot Springs runs out this year.

The Bank Commission of Warren K. Bass of Little Rock run out Dec. 31 and the term of Tom Bell of Rogers expires at the end of this year.

The Workmen's Compensation Commission term of Walter L. Pope of Little Rock runs out Dec. 31.

The Merit System Council term of John Collins of Little Rock expires Feb. 3. The War Memorial Stadium Commission term of Lee Reeves of Hermitage expires Jan. 14.

Faubus also must make an appointment to the state Board of Pardons and Paroles.

ADA Attack Strengthens Mr. Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—A fresh attack by Americans for Democratic Action appeared today to have strengthened the position of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) as a middle of the road presidential hopeful.

The ADA's action yesterday in singling out Johnson as "a symbol of compromise and political opportunism" and therefore, it said, unfit for his party's presidential nomination, secretly delighted the friends of the Senate Democratic leader.

They reasoned that, by implication at least, the ADA had said all others of those prominently mentioned to head the ticket could be grouped as liberals.

This would tend to separate Johnson from the general flock of major candidates, including Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

Johnson's supporters think his three colleagues are likely to force each other into taking some extremely liberal positions on national issues before the nominating convention meets in Los Angeles next July.

They count on middle of the road Democrats from the North and the West to react and to supplement the Southern strength Johnson will carry into the convention.

Not Notified of Flu Outbreak

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A state health official said today he had not been notified of any widespread outbreak of influenza in Arkansas.

Dr. A. M. Washburn, director of the Health Department's communicable disease division, made the statement when asked about reports of many flu cases throughout the state.

He did not rule out the possibility there might be more cases than usual in some areas, but said he had no information of this kind.

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. Vile Edna Watson has been awarded $30,000 in the death of her husband, one of three men killed last Oct. 8 in the collision of their motorized railroad car and a freight train near here.

Mrs. Watson had sued the Missouri Pacific Railroad for $250,000 for herself, her son and two grandchildren in the death of Neil Otis Watson.

The men were working for the railroad at the time of the wreck. A fourth man leaped to safety before the diesel locomotive hit the motorcar near Lamar.

President Rules Out Reprisals Against Cuba

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today ruled out any United States reprisals at this time against Cuba's Fidel Castro regime.

The President told a news conference the Castro government's anti-American campaign causes concern and perplexes this country.

"But, Eisenhower added, the American people still have great affection for the Cubans. The United States, he went on, is not going to be a party to any reprisals against Castro at this moment, and is certainly not going to intervene in Cuba's internal affairs."

Immediately after the news conference, Eisenhower issued a statement.

"The United States government views with increasing concern the tendency of spokesmen of the Cuban government, including Prime Minister Castro, to create the illusion of aggressive acts, and conspiratorial activities aimed at the United States officials or agencies," it said.

Eisenhower called such accusations "unfounded illusions" and said promotion of them can hardly contribute to good relations between the United States and Cuba.

"We believe these charges to be totally unfounded," the President said.

In a TV broadcast last week, Castro accused the U. S. Embassy of working with opponents of his government. He also denounced Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

After this Castro broadcast, the United States called Ambassador Philip Bonsal home for consultations.

Eisenhower dealt with these other topics in his news conference.

SPACE—The United States, he said, has no reason to bow its head in shame in any comparison of American and Soviet accomplishments in space exploration.

"This country has a record in the space field of which it can be proud, the President added, particularly when you take into account that the Soviet Union has been working in that field since 1945."

Debre warned Frenchmen that "all can be lost if order is not re-established and maintained in Algeria."

Debre issued the warning in an official statement after his return from a middle-of-the-night visit to Algiers, where French insurgents still occupy the heart of the city.

It was a clear warning to Frenchmen that right-wing extremists are threatening the future of France itself unless they abandon their stubborn uprising.

The insurgent die-hards were reported to have been promised the French army will not shoot them out of their barricades. But Debre declared the policy of self-determination for Algerians stands.

Nothing has happened that will deter pursuit of the aim of President Charles de Gaulle's administration to let Algeria's nine million North Africans decide their own future, he said.

The French Press Agency said De Gaulle's military commander and civil representative in Algeria had promised the army will not fire on the insurgents.

The agency quoted Echo d'Alger, an Algiers newspaper, as saying Gen. Maurice Challe, army commander, and Paul Delouvrier, De Gaulle's representative in the territory, gave the assurance in a meeting with City Council members.

The council members were reported to have asked the two Paris representatives not to use force against the insurgents dug in behind the barricades.

Word of the development came after Premier Michel Debre returned to Paris from a middle-of-the-night visit to Algiers.

Debre — his moves cloaked in secrecy since Monday when President de Gaulle's government dispatched him on the trouble-shooting mission — arrived in the tense North African city Monday night, French army headquarters for Algiers announced.

His plane whisked him back to Paris again before the sleeping populace was aware of his presence.

The communique said Debre had conferred with Gen. Maurice Challe, commander in chief in Algeria and Paul Delouvrier, De Gaulle's representative in the territory. It was reported he also conferred with 30 Algiers parliamentarians.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated former Rep. Brooks Hays, Arkansas Democrat for a new term on the Board of Directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

If the Senate confirms his nomination, the 61-year-old Hays will continue on the board until May 18, 1960.

Hays said here yesterday he would accept reappointment to the board if it were offered him.

That apparently ended speculation of Arkansas this summer that he would run for governor of Arkansas this summer.

Hays told newsmen after a conference with Gerald D. Morgan, deputy assistant to President Eisenhower, that he was receptive to TVA reappointment.

He had said previously he has no political plans and he did not comment on the Arkansas political situation yesterday.

President Eisenhower appointed Hays to a one-year term on the TVA Board of Directors after Hays was unseated in the 1958 election by Rep. Dale Alford. Hays, a Democrat, took the place of Dr. Frank J. Welch of Knoxville.

Hays' term ends next May 18. There had been speculation that he did not want a full term on the TVA board and that he might run for governor in his home state.

The regular term of a TVA board member is nine years. The job pays $20,000 yearly.

Hays told newsmen he had no reason to believe a reappointment would not be offered him. He added he did not see Eisenhower and "am not advised as to the executive plans for my future."

French Rioters Warned to End Armed Disorder

By ULYS YATES

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle tonight stepped firmly into efforts to end the deadlock between government troops and barricaded insurgents in Algiers.

Cancelling a Cabinet meeting, De Gaulle instead called Premier Michel Debre, Defense Minister Pierre Guillaumont and other government figures to the presidential palace.

All private communications with Algeria were halted as De Gaulle conferred with them.

The order in which he called the ministers to his office indicated he might be considering a constitutional provision allowing him to assume full powers if he feels the integrity of the state is menaced.

Debre warned Frenchmen that "all can be lost if order is not re-established and maintained in Algeria."

Debre issued the warning in an official statement after his return from a middle-of-the-night visit to Algiers, where French insurgents still occupy the heart of the city.

New Fashion Displayed in Paris

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—Fashion designer Pierre Balmain today showed a "Greek column" line, slim and semi-slack at the waist, in his presentation of what women will wear for the spring.

Balmain's styles were a far cry from the sack.

When belts were used, they hugged the top of the hips, thus lowering the waistline.

Hemlines just covered the knees and tube coats were tunic-length with split backs.

Daytime necklines were modest curves or straight across.

Materials were light and drapery, in soft tones of pink and blue, beige and grey. Sleeves were three-quarter tubos. There were skirts in small knife-pleats, and flounce of pleats appeared on sheath skirts. True suits had short, slack blouses in silk shantung.

While Balmain's dresses were not in full, sexy styles, they were a great distance from the sack that had feminine charm.

Battle lines between sex and sack were drawn at openings Monday.

Patou was the proponent of slinky sex. Pierre Cardin sneaked back with the sack. A few of his creations were fitted at the hip, and some fitted at the knee. But the rest were in the bag.

Bullet in Head Fatal to Mrs. Wayne Brock

A teen-aged mother was shot fatally at her home here yesterday and Prosecuting Attorney Royce Weisenberger this morning filed a first degree murder charge against the victim's young husband.

Mrs. Catherine Brock, 16, died in a local hospital last night some four hours after she was struck in the head by a .22 caliber pistol bullet.

Her husband, Wayne Brock, 16, collapsed in shock after the shooting and was placed under sedatives in a local hospital under police guard throughout last night. He was released from the hospital about 10:30 a.m. this morning and placed in Hempstead County jail.

Quarrel Indicated

Chief of Police Jack Brown said a family quarrel preceded the shooting which occurred at the couple's home on K street. He quoted Brock as saying his wife had threatened to leave him and had gone to a bedroom to get their 10-month-old daughter. Mrs. Brock was hit between the eyes by the pistol bullet. She died four hours later. The pistol was found on the floor beside the baby's bed. Chief Brown said Dr. C. Lynn Harris, Hempstead coroner, performed an autopsy on the body, removing the bullet.

Prosecuting Attorney Royce Weisenberger said there had been no application as yet for release of Brock on bond which would have to be set by Circuit Judge Lyle Brown. The prosecutor said that physicians would re-examine Brock this afternoon.

Married 2 Years

At Hot Springs the dead girl's mother, Mrs. Virgil P. Ellis, said her daughter and Brock had been married two years. Both the girl and her husband were born at Hot Springs. Brock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Brock of that city.

The couple's 10-month-old daughter, Mary Catherine, was placed in custody of Mrs. Brock's parents who came to Hope last night after being informed of the shooting.

The young couple had lived here about a year and Brock has been an announcer for radio station KXAR here. He formerly worked for radio stations at Hot Springs.

Quicker Funeral Service took the body to Hot Springs last night. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Sheriffs Walking for Dimes Fund

CULLENDALE, Ark. (AP)—Two Arkansas sheriffs began hoofing it again today for the March of Dimes.

The sheriffs slept in trailers. For every $100 donated to the March of Dimes, a sheriff walks one mile. They started at noon yesterday and are expected to meet sometime today in their 30-mile hike.

The wolf had been tagged twice, once in 1950 and again in 1959 by the Virginia Game and Fish Commission.

The tags showed the wolf had been vaccinated and desexed.

There was a place on the collar for a third tag.

THE STORY: Madam Cissie Janeway has taken Syracuse by storm with her charm, but Orrin Applegate has some doubts about her and her sinister butler Oscar, even though Orrin has been retained to represent her as a lawyer. Madam's name has been connected with that of Daniel Drew, the Great financial tycoon.

CHAPTER XIV

My duty was clear, I thought. Madam Janeway said draw her aside.
"Madam Cissie," I said, "something just happened that disturbs me."
"So, very properly, you came to tell me about it," she smiled. "That letter you just received?"
"Yes, you dropped the envelope."
"How stupid of me," she said. "How horribly stupid!"
"Mr. Dewitt," I said, "read the return address."
To this she made no reply.
"That little fellow Jellison will be glad to bribe me to tell him what it was."
She touched my wrist and smiled at me. "I know," she said. "That I could trust you implicitly."
"But," I said gravely, "I fear you cannot trust your butler."
"Oscar!" she exclaimed.
"Yes," I answered. "For a $20 bill he gave me the information to Willie."
Again she patted my arm. "Don't worry," she said sweetly. "I'll attend to Oscar. Don't let him out. Orrin, he'll tell Mr. Wilkins nothing that will do him any good." And then, "Will you ask Banker Dewitt to step into my office? Bring him Orrin, and remain yourself." She smiled. "As my confidential representative."
For an instant I remembered that odd conversation between Madam and her peculiar butler in which the name of Mr. Dewitt had come up, and which seemed to hint that he should be convinced of something. But it was only a fleeting thought. Not even a slight suspicion. For I like everyone else who came in contact with her, was obsessed by Madam's person, and her intelligence and her charm. To say nothing of her obvious wealth.
I sought out Mr. Dewitt and requested him to accompany me to Madam's office which he did readily. She was seated behind her desk, holding in her hands a large manilla envelope which bulged with bulky contents.
"Thank you, Mr. Dewitt, for

"Oscar!" she exclaimed.
"Yes," I answered. "For a $20 bill he gave me the information to Willie."
Again she patted my arm. "Don't worry," she said sweetly. "I'll attend to Oscar. Don't let him out. Orrin, he'll tell Mr. Wilkins nothing that will do him any good." And then, "Will you ask Banker Dewitt to step into my office? Bring him Orrin, and remain yourself." She smiled. "As my confidential representative."
For an instant I remembered that odd conversation between Madam and her peculiar butler in which the name of Mr. Dewitt had come up, and which seemed to hint that he should be convinced of something. But it was only a fleeting thought. Not even a slight suspicion. For I like everyone else who came in contact with her, was obsessed by Madam's person, and her intelligence and her charm. To say nothing of her obvious wealth.
I sought out Mr. Dewitt and requested him to accompany me to Madam's office which he did readily. She was seated behind her desk, holding in her hands a large manilla envelope which bulged with bulky contents.
"Thank you, Mr. Dewitt, for

Production of Minerals Up
in Arkansas

By COLIN FROST

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mineral production in Arkansas increased in value by more than two million dollars last year despite a decrease of about 10½ million dollars in petroleum production.

An annual preliminary estimate of Arkansas mineral production was issued yesterday by the federal Bureau of Mines.

Extraordinary recovery and growth was shown in some industries, including Bauxite, stone, sand and gravel, barite and natural gas. These more than offset a drop in petroleum production.

The 1959 petroleum production was estimated by the Bureau of Mines at 25,521,000 barrels, valued at $70,438,000. The 1958 estimate was 28,709 barrels valued at $8,934,000. That is an 11 per cent decrease in quantity and a 13 per cent decrease in value.

The bureau said the strike at the American Oil Co. refinery at El Dorado, which lasted over four months, was the cause of part of the decrease in oil production.

State geologist Norman F. Williams said the generally sick condition of the oil industry in the U.S. also was a big factor.

Natural gas production was up 29 per cent in volume and 31 per cent in value in 1959.

Operation of the new Arkansas Cement Corp. plant near Foreman was listed as one of the factors responsible for a sizeable increase in production of cement, sand and gravel.

Stone production was up for the eighth consecutive year. Zinc and manganese production declined somewhat.

The bureau said there was a slight increase in coal output. Aluminum showed a big increase and Arkansas bauxite production totaled 97 per cent of the total U.S. production. Much of the nation's bauxite is imported.

Barite increased in value from $1,088,000 in 1958 to an estimated $3,353,000 in 1959. The gain is 101 per cent. Hot Spring County produces the state's barite in an area north of Malvern.

Test Suit Has Not Been Filed

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A scheduled test suit on validity of new industrial financing laws adopted at the special legislative session last week had not been filed today.

Batesville sources said the suit probably would not be filed until later in the week after some details are worked out with officials of the Seiberling Rubber Co., which plans to locate a branch here if the laws are upheld.

During the session at Little Rock last week it was said the suit might be filed here as early as today.

Chief of the new laws, passed at request of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, is one authorizing cities and counties to issue tax-free revenue bonds to build industrial plants.

"You are selling it," I exclaimed. "I thought Stubby Newell owned it!"

"We don't need to fret about that," Hannum said. "George has got a little to it that contents me."

First Shots
Bring Panic
in Algiers

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP) — The broad Boulevard Lefevre was jammed by crowds shouting slogans when the first shots were fired.

A cry of panic went up. Men and women screamed, fleeing blindly from a barrage of flying a tattered tricolor, away from armed men who threatened to march on the government buildings.

Someone fired a tommygun toward steel-helmeted gendarmes. Someone shouted "Forward, forward."

Others screamed, "Take cover, they're shooting!"

Besides men with tricolor armbands and uniformed National Guardsmen summoned by their leaders for the rising, many of those in the crowd were Sunday strollers.

They came to watch the show. To them it was another political demonstration, a popular picnic they had seen many.

There were girls in high heels with their young men and mothers with children.

There were people in their Sunday best who joked while heated appeals came from loudspeakers.

Within minutes after the shooting the crowd dispersed. Heavy army trucks began arriving on nearby streets. Ambulances whizzed by with sirens screaming.

Sporadic shooting continued for 10 minutes.

The crowd lingered on the sidewalks away from the blood square—waiting.

A hysterical woman screamed that it was an infamous day, that she never thought Frenchmen would shoot at Frenchmen in Algiers.

Tug-of-War Is Matter of Life, Death

By COLIN FROST

ABOARD A PLANE OVER THE ENGLISH COAST (AP) — In the crinkled waters of the Spithed Channel today six ships played tug-of-war—with life or death as the prize.

Four of the ships were British tugs. Their task was to pull apart an American freighter and a Norwegian tanker locked together after a shattering collision. The American ship's nose was firmly fixed in the tanker's port bow as gradually the two drifted toward the shallows.

Fire was the biggest danger. The tanker's cargo was highly inflammable oil. Yet another peril was a big fort planted in the channel to beat off mine-laying planes in World War II.

The tugs won their battle—and just in time. Soon the two ships were under tow and on their way to safety.

This correspondent watched the last stages of the drama from a low-flying plane. A big gap showed in the tanker's side, like a slice from a gigantic cake. The American ship's bow was shattered. As the plane swooped low, you could see right into the freighter's forward hold, littered with crumpled packing cases, and see waves on the other side.

Three men stood on the foredeck of the tanker, the 11,000-ton Gorm of Loso, one looked up briefly to wave to the plane. Then he turned back with the others anxiously watching the waves lapping over of the risk of fire.

The freighter, the 6,125-ton Santa Alicia, showed not a sign of life above decks. Twenty of the crew had been taken off because of the risk of fire.

But men were still at work down below. Soon after the ships came apart the Santa Alicia's crew started churning to help the tugs avoid the dangerous shallows.

A tug called the Flying Estrel took the Santa Alicia in charge, towing her stern first to keep seawater out of her gaping forward hold.

The tanker, heavily laden and much the larger ship, had two tugs. One was ahead and the other alongside.

As slowly they moved up channel toward Southampton, fire floats craned with them. Two destroyers and a frigate kept guard to clear other shipping from their path.

The Santa Alicia, owned by Grace Lines of New York, was sailing out of Southampton for New York when she collided head-on with the Gorm, out of Oslo, in pre-dawn darkness.

The ships were doing about six knots in a choppy sea. There was no fog. There were no casualties from the collision.

Jonesboro Building
Destroyed by Fire

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — A business district building in which three families lived was destroyed by fire Saturday night in Egypt, 12 miles west of here.

The occupants of the large frame and metal building escaped injury. They are Mrs. Mary Williams and her teen-aged children, Charles and Carolyn. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Scales, and Mr. and Mrs. George Baker.

Two houses behind the destroyed building were damaged, one heavily. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Williams, occupants of the heavily damaged house, were not hurt.

The Jonesboro Fire Department kept the fire from spreading to nearby business buildings.

Retired Contractor

Structures he built included Emmanuel Baptist Church, the Gay Building and Parnell Hall, all at Little Rock, and the Bottoms Baptist Orphanage dormitory at Monticello.

He was a brother of John L. Carter, former long time state official, who retired as assistant insurance commissioner last year.

Two sons, two daughters, a sister and two other brothers also survive.

The funeral will be held here tomorrow. Burial will be at Fort Dodge.

DOROTHY DIX

Hurt by Hubby's Penny Pinching

Dear Dorothy Dix: My first marriage ended in divorce. I married again and am much in love with my present husband. He is good to me and my three children. He was also married before, but in any disagreement he wants me to apologize, even when he knows I'm right. Recently we had a telephone installed. I took it upon myself to have a colored one. He wouldn't speak to me all evening because it cost an extra $10. We have several thousand in bank accounts. One day when I couldn't get to the bank he made me feel like a fool. Am I being foolish to feel this so deeply—Wondering.

Dear Wondering: A wife has a right to expect her husband to keep his marriage vows. Remind your husband that marriage is a partnership. Your job is the home, his the office. As home-maker, you rate a stake in family finances. Your husband should give you a certain sum each week with no strings attached. How you spend that money should be your concern, not his. Unless you take a positive stand, he'll continue stomping around like a wounded buffalo.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am 15 and go with a nice boy who is 16 years older and married but not living with his wife. He said he would get a divorce but hasn't yet. Do you think I should stop seeing him before he gets too serious—C.X.

Dear C.X.: Put that "nice" boy in cold storage. Any 15-year-old girl who dates a 31-year-old married man is pushing trouble.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am 18 years old, attend college and have been going steady eight years with the same boy. We love each other and plan to marry. He keeps asking me to go all the way. When I say no he tells me I do not love him. We seem to be getting further and further away due to my attitude towards love-making. Please tell me what to do—Sharon.

Dear Sharon: Marry now! Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper.

Would Ban Use of Color in Drugs
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming appealed today for quick congressional action to ban the use of color additives in foods, drugs and cosmetics if tests show they could produce cancer.

He told the House Commerce Committee that scientists so far do not know how much of a possibly cancer-inducing substance is needed to produce cancer in humans.

However, he said science has made clear that some agents can produce malignant tumors in humans over a period of time. For this reason, he said, science and the government just can't afford to take a chance.

Flemming appeared before the

Actress Diane Barrymore Dies Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Diane Barrymore, 38, who made her life a tragic struggle to fulfill the mythical promise of her name, died Monday.

Her nude body was found lying face down in bed by a maid at her fashionable East Side apartment.

Her physician said she died of a heart attack but he refused to sign a death certificate because Miss Barrymore had no history of heart trouble. Police started an investigation.

Authorities said there was no indication of suicide. Miss Barrymore, who was trying to make a theatrical comeback after a life of alcoholism, degradation and broken marriages, had once made a suicide attempt.

She told her story in the best-selling autobiography, "Too Much, Too Soon." She was the daughter of the late John Barrymore, whose swanbuckling off stage enlivened anything he did on stage, and the late Blanche Oelrichs, who wrote plays and poems under the name Michael Strange.

Her aunt was Ethel Barrymore, and her uncle was Lionel Barrymore. Her theatrical ancestry went back four generations in this country and England. Diana Barrymore's name opened for her every door in show business, but when she made headlines it was seldom in the critics' columns.

In 1938-39, she was New York's "Personality Debutante." Her smiling, young face was photographed in all the fashionable night spots with cafe society escorts. Discouraged by her father, she launched a theatrical career in summer stock and quickly moved on to Hollywood.

Miss Barrymore's movie failures led her to excessive drinking. As a young woman, she moved swiftly through two unsuccessful marriages, first to Brummell Fletcher, an actor, and then to John Howard, a professional tennis player.

By 1947, her reputation for drinking and belligerence had closed all doors her name had opened. During her third marriage to Robert Wilcox, she and her husband were arrested for stealing food from a supermarket. One day, Miss Barrymore swallowed 27 sleeping pills with whisky as a chaser. She was found in time to be saved.

After the death of Wilcox in 1955, Miss Barrymore began the long, uphill struggle for a comeback. She wrote her book, including the sordid details of her dissipation. She liked her drinking problem.

She told friends recently, "I have begun to find my way."

Her body was taken to Bellevue Hospital for an autopsy. Her manager, Viola Rubber, who lives across the street from Miss Barrymore's apartment, said the actress had complained recently of chest pains. She had been under a doctor's care.

There was no indication of the value of Miss Barrymore's estate. Her attorney, Aaron Prosch, said she "had no financial difficulties."

Miss Barrymore's only other survivor is a stepbrother, Leonard Thomas, of the Anchorage Hotel, Antigua, B.W.I.

India Observes 10th Year of Independence

By R. SATAKOPAN

NEW DELHI (AP)—India celebrated its 10 years of independence today with pomp and problems looming at home and troubles lurking over the Himalays.

It was exactly 30 years ago that Jawaharlal Nehru, then a 40-year-old insurgent, moved the resolution in the Congress party's annual convention declaring India's goal was complete freedom from British rule.

It was Nehru, on the same date 21 years later, who inaugurated a republican constitution. The British had left 31 months earlier, on Aug. 15, 1947.

Today President Rajendra Prasad takes the salute at a three-mile-long process which will end at the red sandstone fort which housed Mogul Imperial headquarters in India 300 years ago.

Carried down by camels, bullocks and elephants will follow the ceremonial route while jet aircraft swoosh above.

During the 10 years of republican rule, the whole country, from the Himalayas to the Indian Ocean, has come under one flag with the pensioning of 600 princelings.

India has become one of the most stable nations in Asia. It has conducted two free national elections. A second five-year plan is nearing completion and in 15 months a third five-year plan is to start.

But India still has a long way to go to achieve economic and social freedoms. Effective brakes have yet to be applied to reduce her population growth of about five million annually. She still has a chronic food deficiency.

Referring to Red China as "one of our neighbors," President Prasad in a broadcast Monday night reiterated his government's determination to have the border problem with Red China settled through negotiations, despite "provocations (from across the border) and rising popular resentment (within India)."

Official sources said one of the listeners to Prasad's broadcast was Soviet President Klement Voroshilov, here on an official visit.

Faubus has said he will disclose his political plans about mid-March.

Faubus to Make Address in L.A.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus has accepted an invitation to address the Committee to Defend State Sovereignty at Los Angeles the night of April 1. The invitation came from a retired Army colonel, William H. Gale, who said the speech "will be made in the Embassy Auditorium."

An aide said Faubus continues to receive many invitations to speak in other states. However, the aide said the governor has not acted on these pending his decision on whether to seek a fourth term in this summer's Democratic primary.

Faubus has said he will disclose his political plans about mid-March.

Fishing Report for Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Here is a fishing forecast from the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission:

Across The Counter

Fred O. Ellis

"Insurance is purchased essentially because of a condition of menace," says an editorial in a national insurance magazine. It is not something which the purchaser particularly enjoys buying. "The threat of dire consequences if the prospect lacks coverage over-rides the promise of happiness if he does."

It is true that buying the proper insurance isn't as enjoyable as the thrill of a new car, or the joy of a new home, or the taste of a steak dinner.

Yet, we prefer to look on the positive side. Many of our clients do enjoy the comfort and peace-of-mind which a good insurance program provides. They realize that if a bad loss occurs, their insurance may be the most prized possession they own. Because it will protect all the physical assets they own—their home, cars, furniture, bank account, and future earnings.

So, actually acquiring an Insurance Program which has been properly designed to your own individual requirements is an "enjoyable" experience. Let us prove this to you!

Georgia Tech Wrecks Mighty Kentucky Five

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Engineers of Georgia Tech are building their first championship season in Southeastern Conference basketball since 1939 by literally tearing down the king, mighty Kentucky.

Faced with a "must game" against the challenging Wildcats at Atlanta Monday night, the Engineers not only beat Kentucky for the second time this season but handed the Wildcats their fourth worst whipping in 720 games under Adolph Rupp's 30-year coaching era, piling up a 65-44 rout to the roars of 7,348 fans.

Since Byron Rupp became the

Mooty Man of Year in Ark-La-Tex Sports

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Filmed highlights of the career of Arkansas Razorback halfback Jim Mooty were shown over a Shreveport television station last night in a program that officially announced his selection as Ark-La-Tex athlete of the year.

The Athletic Affairs Committee of the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce named Mooty to the honor. He will be honored at a sports awards banquet Feb. 12 in Shreveport.

To be eligible for the Ark-La-Tex award, an athlete must live in the area, within a 150-mile radius of Shreveport. Mooty lives at El Dorado, Ark.

The Razorback halfback was named to the Associated Press 1959 All-America team, was twice All-Southwest Conference, and was named the most valuable player in the 1959 Gator Bowl game, in which Arkansas defeated Georgia Tech, 14-7.

Streaking Virginia Tech (12-2) won its eighth in a row, 107-77 over Furman, and Minnesota continued its surprising challenge in the Big Ten with a hot-shooting 87-72 rout of Iowa at Iowa City in other key games on the limited Monday schedule.

Cincinnati Is on Top, A&M Still Rates 10th

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The lack of action on college basketball courts last week was reflected in the balloting today as the list of the top 10 teams in The Associated Press ranking poll remained unchanged.

The sports writers and broadcasters again picked Cincinnati as the No. 1 team—overwhelmingly on the basis of first-place votes—but made the Bearcats' only conqueror, Bradley, a close second in the point totals. About the only differences noted among the top 10 were minor changes in the point totals.

Georgia Tech, the only team among the first 10 to lose a game last week, retained its sixth ranking but its margin over seventh-ranked Utah was trimmed to a mere 28 points. Villanova's strengthened its hold on eighth place but couldn't overtake Utah.

The ratings are based on games through Saturday, Jan. 28.

The top 10 based on 10 points for first, 9 for second, etc., with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Cincinnati (70) 1,471
2. Bradley (19) 1,339
3. California (21) 1,339

Search Continues for Trapped Miners

COALBROOK, South Africa (AP) — A high speed drill today bored steadily toward 40 men trapped deep in a coal mine since Thursday.

Fresh rockslides clogged the main shaft with tons of earth, halting underground rescue efforts. Mine officials ordered an emergency shaft sunk to try to get food and air to the men if they are still alive.

Managers of the Clydesdale colliery, where the massive rockfall occurred, rushed the drill here from an iron mine in the northern Transvaal.

The drill which bores a hole 15 inches in diameter, penetrated 80 feet within a couple of hours, then struck a rock formation. Engineers estimated it would take 40 hours to reach the area where the men are trapped.

Bed sheets and shirts were the sails of the first ship built in North America. Despite this, the ship sailed over 4,000 miles. In 1582, a band of French Huguenots sent to colonize South Carolina, mutilated and constructed a ship to carry them home. Every piece of cloth they could spare was used for sails. In the spring of 1583, the ship set sail. The starved sailors were about to give up when they saw the coast of France.

Campanella's Stepson in Trouble Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Dodger catcher Roy Campanella's 16-year-old stepson David was arrested Monday night on charges of petty larceny and violation of parole.

It was the third time the Negro boy was arrested in less than a year.

David was seized by police with three other Negro boys on a street corner.

The four were looking over the contents of a large cardboard box—a fresh lobster, cans of sardines, cans of soup, toothpaste, electric light bulbs and cartons of cigarettes.

One of David's companions has been working as a clerk in a grocery store. The owner told police the articles were stolen from the store.

David denied any part in a theft and the other boys absolved him, police said. David said he met the other boys just before the policemen arrived.

David's previous arrests were for breaking into a drugstore and for being in a street fight. He was under 16 then, so the charges were only juvenile delinquency. He was placed on probation.

Civil Rights Bill Seems Almost Sure

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Will Congress pass a civil rights bill this year. Most likely. What kind? A moderate one. Why moderate? Several reasons, all political.

For instance: The Democrats control Congress. If the Northern Democrats tried to ram through a tough bill, it would probably cause a party-splitting filibuster by Southern Democrats. In this election year the Democrats don't want spills.

Civil rights legislation is still a stinging issue, made so by the South's resistance to public school integration and its treatment of Negroes.

There is pressure for action—from organized labor, Negroes, and Northern liberals. The push in Congress for action is mainly from those in the liberal group and most of them are from industrial centers where the Negro votes count.

Last year President Eisenhower proposed a seven-point program. No action. This year he still talks of waiting action. But he has been vague so far, has shown no signs of real fight on the issue.

Republicans are playing quiet now, letting Democrats fight among themselves.

But when the showdown comes Republicans, if they have any hope of denting Democratic control of Congress, will have to make some showing of lining up on the side of civil rights if they hope for any of that Northern Negro vote.

Ten there are those Democrats considered presidential possibilities. Of necessity they must be self-conscious about the problem. None of them illustrates this more than Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats.

This week he confidently predicted a civil rights bill would be passed in 1960. As a man credited with big hopes for the presidency, Johnson can't afford to alienate his fellow Southern Democrats. He'll need their support going in to the convention.

But the Southerners alone couldn't nominate him. He would need acceptance by the Northerners, particularly Northern liberals. And he is far from being the liberals' darling.

He would have a better claim on their attention if he could get a civil rights bill through. But it would be politically unwise for him to try to force a tough bill on the South.

The chances, therefore, are that he will steer through a bill not to harsh for the Southerners to digest, even though they preferred none at all and although not strong enough to delight the liberals at least some kind of bill which they could consider better than nothing.

If anybody could get through a bill at all Johnson seems the one to do it. First, because of his control in the Senate; second, because he's a compromiser; third,

The annual Mother's March on Polio will be held Thursday night Jan. 28. Don't forget to turn your porch lights on.

To us it has always seemed fitting that the March of Dimes appeal should be held in January. For years, the March of Dimes has meant hope to the children suffering from polio.

Only a few short years ago, a March of Dimes financed research project produced a polio vaccine that has protected millions from the crippling disease. And this year too, it is fitting that the March of Dimes comes at a time when hopes are high for the new year.

This year, it's a new March of Dimes, because it now offers new hope to even more millions — the patients suffering from the crippling birth defects and arthritis and rheumatism is more than from polio. These diseases affect one family out of every four in this country.

Crippling birth defects is the major unmet childhood problem in the U.S. About 250,000 children annually, or one in 16 are born with significant birth defects.

The number of Americans suffering from some form of arthritis and rheumatism is more than

Kennedy Hits Vote Trail in N. Hampshire

By ELMAN MORIN

NASHUA, N.H. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) hit the campaign trail in New Hampshire today and criticized other Democratic "Presidential aspirants" for staying out of state primary elections.

"Primary contests not only educate the public, they educate the candidate as well," Kennedy said. "I regret that more candidates in both parties will not join me here in this discussion."

New Hampshire holds the nation's first primary on March 8.

Kennedy said he is going into "five or six other" state elections. He is already entered in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon. "And I intend to make up my mind about two others in the next few weeks," he said.

It is possible that California, with a massive 81-delegate vote in the national convention, may be one of the two states.

Kennedy said that after Adlai Stevenson's sweeping victory in the California primary in 1956 it was "inevitable" that he would be the presidential nominee.

He said the same thing was true after Gen. Eisenhower's victory in the New Hampshire primary in 1952.

At a press conference, Kennedy said he thought Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) is his "major opponent" as of today. He has more delegates committed than anyone else.

Kennedy came by automobile through a driving snowstorm from Boston. The Senator planned to spend a full day in the state. He said he expected to return to New Hampshire—which has 11 votes in the national convention—in late February.

LONDON (AP)—Aneurin Bevan, deputy leader of the British Labor party, has suffered another relapse in his fight to recover from a major operation.

"Mr. Bevan has had a poor night and is not so well," the hospital said in a medical bulletin today.

The 62-year-old Socialist underwent abdominal surgery Dec. 29. The nature of his ailment was not disclosed but ulcer specialists performed the operation. Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskill said his deputy was not suffering from cancer.

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came today from what he described as a very successful visit to Rome.

The 84-year-old German leader reached Rome Wednesday. Italians generally viewed his trip as part of a campaign for support for a firm stand against any compromise on the German question at the forthcoming East-West summit meeting.

WELLS, England (AP) — Ten young cave explorers were rescued today after being trapped by flood waters in a cavern.

The explorers were cut off for eight hours in a series of underground caves and tunnels known as St. Cuthbert's Swallet just outside the Somerset village of Prid-dy. Torrential rain flooded an underground stream flowing through the caves.

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Union County Sheriff O. E. Bishop (trudge) off today in his "walking duel" with a brother sheriff or the benefit of the March of Dimes.

A few minutes after Bishop left the court house at noon, word came from Camden that his opponent, Ouachita county Sheriff Grover Linebarrier, was on his way.

The two sheriffs are headed for each other's towns, 30 miles apart. They advance a mile for every $100 contributed to their March of Dimes Funds.

SHREWSBURY, Mass. (AP) — A heavy door fell from a U.S. Marine Corps helicopter onto deserted Dean Park Sunday night. Then the pilot landed and the craft nearby, rumbled the door and flew back to the South Weymouth, Mass., Naval Air Station without mishap.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Matilda Platt, 40, a recent divorcee, was found dead Sunday with a plastic bag over her head. Mrs. Platt's body was found by her daughter, Leslie, 9, in their apartment in Rego Park, Queens. Police listed the death as an apparent suicide.

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — South Korean Democratic presidential candidate Chough Pyong-Ok will leave for the United States Wednesday for an operation. He will go to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington for an operation to determine the nature or stomach ailment.

HONOLULU (AP) — Bulldozers are raising the dikes which Sunday turned the flow of lava from Kilauea volcano back to its original channel.

The lava-filled lake back of the dikes brimmed over Saturday on the island of Hawaii and destroyed four buildings with the help of falling red-hot cinders the size of softballs.

The villages of Kapoho and Kona, evacuated before the 12-day eruption began, have lost five homes, a church and a community center. Damage is estimated unofficially at four million dollars.
